How Does BNPL (Buy Now, Pay Later) Reduce Cart Abandonment? PayU Blog Seven out of ten online shoppers add items to their cart and leave without buying. That is what a 70% cart abandonment rate looks like. For most ecommerce businesses, it represents significant lost revenue. The reasons are well-documented: unexpected costs, long checkouts, and affordability concerns. Buy now pay later directly addresses that last barrier. When shoppers can pay in instalments instead of paying the full amount upfront, completing a purchase becomes a much easier decision. Here is how BNPL works, why it reduces cart abandonment, and how to implement it on your store. Table of Contents Why Shoppers Leave Without Buying? Studies consistently point to the same reasons for cart abandonment: unexpected shipping costs or taxes, mandatory account creation, complicated checkout processes, and limited payment options. Affordability is not a primary concern, and it often sits quietly behind several of these. As a result, a shopper who is unable to make a full upfront payment will eventually leave, even if they genuinely want the product. This is where flexible payment options make a measurable difference. How BNPL Works at Checkout? A pay later option lets customers split their total into smaller, manageable instalments usually interest-free. The merchant receives the full payment upfront through the payment processing partner; the customer repays over a set schedule. From the shopper's side, the process is quick: Select Pay Later or EMI payment at the checkout payment gateway Choose a plan 3, 6 or 12 instalments Complete a quick verification and confirm the order Receive the product immediately and repay as scheduled How BNPL Reduces Cart Abandonment? Removes the affordability barrier. A 20,000 product begins to feel more affordable when it is split into four payments of 5,000. This single change can significantly improve checkout conversion, especially for high-value categories like electronics, furniture, and fashion. Reduces hesitation. When the full cost feels manageable, shoppers decide faster. The shop now pay later model shortens the mental deliberation that leads to abandonment. Increases average order value. Customers using instalment payments tend to spend more per transaction. When the immediate financial impact feels smaller, shoppers are less inclined to remove items from their cart. Broadens your customer base. Not every shopper owns a credit card. BNPL reaches customers who want purchase now pay later flexibility without formal credit applications particularly younger shoppers. Studies show 56% of millennials and 49% of Gen Z prefer BNPL over traditional credit. Lifts conversion rates. Ecommerce stores offering buy now and pay later see a measurable 2.1% increase in average conversion rates. Some merchants report cart abandonment dropping by 10% or more after enabling this option. How to Add BNPL to Your Ecommerce Store? Step 1: Choose the right payment gateway. Start with an ecommerce payment gateway that includes BNPL or EMI options natively. A payment gateway for ecommerce site that bundles cards, UPI, wallets, and instalment payments under one integration keeps your setup clean. PayU is a trusted online payment gateway for thousands of Indian businesses it supports flexible payment options including EMI and pay later, helping you reduce cart abandonment and increase conversion rate without managing multiple integrations. Step 2: Show instalment options early. Do not wait until the payment page. Display messaging on product pages, for example: Pay 1,500/month for 6 months. No cost EMI available. Shoppers who know upfront that instalment payments are available are less likely to abandon their cart before even reaching checkout. Step 3: Keep checkout simple. A good checkout payment gateway presents all payment options clearly and without extra steps. Every additional click between cart and confirmation is a drop-off risk. Keep the flow to three steps or fewer where possible. This directly improves checkout conversion rate. Step 4: Optimise for mobile. Mobile devices account for over 68% of ecommerce sessions but carry the highest cart abandonment rates. Your BNPL option must work smoothly on small screens. Test the instalment selection flow on mobile and ensure it is fast and easy to tap through. Step 5: Track and refine. After enabling BNPL, monitor changes in your checkout conversion rate, average order value, and abandonment rate. Use that data to adjust where and how you display the option and to identify any remaining friction in the payment flow. How to Select the Right BNPL Partner for Your E-Commerce Business? Conclusion Businesses lose significant revenue to cart abandonment, but much of it can be prevented. Buy Now, Pay Later

(BNPL) helps remove the affordability barrier at checkout, making it easier for customers to complete their purchases. It improves conversion rates, increases average

Impact of BNPL on Credit Score Buy Now Pay Later (BNPL) is one of the preferred and convenient payment options for those with limited credit. But it also impacts the financial health of the individual thereby impacting the credit score. What is BNPL? Buy Now, Pay Later (BNPL) services let consumers make immediate purchases while deferring payments, offering convenience and flexibility. BNPL can affect credit scores if payment history is reported, while timely repayments may boost scores, missed payments can lower them. Like car loans, BNPL provides interest-free access to goods if paid on time, but poor budgeting can lead to debt, requiring careful financial management. How BNPL Service Operates? Below mentioned are the details about how the BNPL service works: BNPL services allow you to instantly acquire products without waiting to save money. Many BNPL options offer a period when no interest is charged, thereby allowing you to pay instalments without extra cost. Make payment of larger purchases by spreading it out over weeks or months thereby helping to manage your expenses within your budget. Some BNPL providers do not report to credit bureaus, so using their services will not affect your credit score . BNPL do not require a new credit card, helping you avoid increasing your credit lines. Benefits of BNPL The key benefits of BNPL service are mentioned below: BNPL is a more affordable option compared to credit cards or personal loans, especially for those with limited access to credit. Instant approval for BNPL, even for individuals with limited or no credit history. BNPL is a convenient payment method as the transaction method is way simpler. Most BNPL services offer interest-free financing, which is a more appealing option than traditional credit products. Offers flexibility to choose your preferred repayment period and installment amounts. Impact on Credit Score The BNPL service impacts the credit score in both positive and negative ways and those are mentioned below: Positive Impact: Timely payments on BNPL loans can help build or improve your credit score, especially for those with limited credit history. Negative Impact: Missing payments or defaulting on BNPL loans can affect your credit score negatively, as late payments are reported to credit bureaus, thereby impacting your creditworthiness. Relationship Between Credit Score and Pay Later Services Understanding how credit scores relate to pay-later services is key to maintaining financial health and the details are mentioned below: BNPL services can affect credit score based on several factors. Making payments on time can positively impact your credit history and demonstrate financial responsibility. Missed payments may lower your credit score. Not all BNPL providers report to credit bureaus, so some may not directly influence your score. Repayment patterns are crucial in determining credit impact, for services that do report. How to Access the Pay Later Service? To avail yourself of the pay-later service, follow the steps mentioned below for a seamless experience: Select a trustworthy BNPL service after thorough research that offers favorable terms and aligns with your financial goals. Select and add the items you want to purchase to your cart while shopping online. Choose the BNPL option at checkout, as many e-commerce platforms include BNPL options at checkout. Provide basic information for approval. The provider will assess your eligibility instantly. Once approved, review the repayment terms, including due dates and any fees. Complete the process of purchase using BNP

Vaibhav Sawant November 2, 2021 You have probably heard of the term no cost EMI . What does it mean, and is it the same as 0% interest loan ? Let s find out. What does a No cost EMI loan mean? A no-cost EMI loan is a loan product that lets you pay for your purchases without charging any interest on the same. What this means is that you take the loan and pay only the retail price of the product(s) you select, without the extra charge of interest on the loan. Leading apps in India offer Pre-Approved CASHe Limits that let you borrow multiple shopping loans. These are known as BNPL (Buy Now, Pay Later) loans that you can use to buy whatever you need, from clothing to medicines, without paying from your pocket upfront. The loan takes care of the purchasing costs and is repaid from your monthly salary in 90 or 180 days depending on what you choose. Why you should consider BNPL Buy Now, Pay Later makes perfect sense when you wish to shop for essentials or stock up on groceries or medicines, but do not want to spend the money upfront. Consider the benefits of doing so: The shopping loan gives you immediate access to products and services that you want, but do not wish to buy from your own pocket The loan can be used to buy a variety of products and services, from clothing to booking cab rides, and from electronic gadgets to house cleaning services The BNPL loan does not cost anything above the product or service s retail price. Thus, you get a shopping fund without the added expense of paying interest Leading loan apps in India offer no-cost EMI Amazon shopping loans . Top 16 Buy Now, Pay Later Apps in India For 2026 Share Share on Facebook Share on Twitter Pinterest LinkedIn Email Table of Contents Toggle Visit most e-commerce checkout pages in India today, and you'll notice something: buy now pay later options sit right next to UPI and card payments. They are not as widely used, but they are changing the way Indians shop. This shift fascinated us. So we dove down the rabbit hole, testing several pay-later services across different price points. We've compiled this no-nonsense guide to India's top pay-later apps after comparing user experiences, hidden charges, and acceptance across merchants. But first, here are some nuts-and-bolts: What are Buy Now Pay Later Apps? Buy now pay later apps are digital payment services that let you purchase today while paying for them later. They give you a short grace period (usually 15-30 days) to settle the bill without interest, or the option to convert larger purchases into monthly installments. What Makes Buy Now Pay Later Apps So Popular? Who doesn't love the idea of buying something without paying upfront? There are multiple reasons these buy now pay later apps are EVERYWHERE now: Getting a credit card in India is still a massive pain: Many people spend months trying to get one from traditional banks, only to be rejected because of some technical issues with documents or no credit history. With pay later apps, users get approved in literal minutes. They just feel less serious than a credit card: Psychologically, it's easier to think I'll pay this small amount later than to see a credit card bill pile up. (Though those small amounts add up FAST) The convenience is addictive: Once you've experienced the one-click checkout, going back to entering card details feels like torture. Even numbers support this. The buy now pay later market is projected to reach US$35.07 billion in India by 2030, and it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 9.8% every year. Plus, most people in smaller cities can't get credit cards but easily qualify for these services, which explains why they're blowing up everywhere in India. From standard checkout options that give customers the ability to pay off their entire order within a fixed grace period with no costs, to installments spread over a longer duration, BNPL and other credit solutions are helping more people around the world to participate in the digital economy. E-commerce merchants, meanwhile, benefit from a larger customer base, increased online sales, and higher average order values compared with traditional payment methods. Increasing financial inclusion Buy Now Pay Later options offer a more consumer-friendly way to access credit when paying for online products and can serve as a source of alternative credit to customers not covered by traditional financial products. By extending more payment flexibility to online shoppers, BNPL expands the affordability and accessibility of e-commerce, helping more people to participate in the digital economy. Benefits for merchants Merchants offering BNPL and other credit products in select PayU markets benefit from increased sales due to improved conversions as well as higher transaction values for certain types of payments. For installment payments, transaction values are up to 10 times higher than for other payment methods. With a variety of secure repayment options for different PayU credit offerings, customers feel more comfortable making bigger purchases online. Meanwhile, through the credit products offered by PayU and our partners, merchants are paid out at the time of purchase, eliminating any risk. PayU's credit offer PayU offers BNPL and other credit solutions in selected markets. Each solution is managed locally and tailored to the needs of the local market. Poland Romania Czech Republic India Additional markets From BNPL to Installments: Credit Solutions in Eastern Europe Representing a combined consumer population of nearly 60 million, Poland, Romania, and the Czech Republic are three of Europe's most compelling growth markets for e-commerce. With offices in all three countries, PayU is deeply rooted in the Central and Eastern European region. This local expertise extends to our credit platform, which offers different credit options for each market. Poland PayU Credit is the biggest online credit broker and distribution platform in Polish e-commerce, with nearly $1 billion in credit volumes processed and over 2,500 merchants using PayU Credit solutions. Through a single API, PayU's Credit platform facilitates multiple consumer credit options by partnering with a network of leading consumer finance providers. The credit portfolio can be customized according to merchant preference and includes various installment payment options as well as BNPL with a standard grace period 30 days or even extended up to 45 days (for registered users and dependent on the loan provider). Merchants are paid out at the time of purchase, allowing businesses to reap the benefits of extending credit options to online consumers without shouldering the risk. In addition to consumer credit solutions, PayU offers business financing through its partnership with YouLend. This platform provides fast and flexible business loans, repaid directly from the balance generated by PayU. Romania In Romania, PayU partners with local banks to offer BNPL as well as installment payment options to consumers. This means that PayU merchants in Romania can offer their customers BNPL with up to 30 days of grace period through PayU's platform, as well as installment payments with up to 60 installments. According to PayU's 2021 report on the state of e-commerce in emerging markets, the average transaction value in Romania for key verticals like Beauty & Cosmetics was among the highest on our EMEA platform. With these promising figures, offering BNPL and installment payments is a great way for merchants to boost GMV and reach more of the growing Romanian e-commerce marketplace. Czech Republic PayU offers BNPL in the Czech Republic through an integration with local BNPL provider Twisto. PayU's platform allows merchants to offer the Pay Later with Twisto option as a payment method at checkout. Consumers receive an instant credit decision and, if approved, the order can be paid with a standard grace period 30 days (or even extended up to 45 days for Twisto account users). PayU pays out the merchant the next day and assumes responsibility for collecting payment from the customer. Learn more Get in touch with our team to
